

i love miami 365: Daily Photo Documentary Celebrates its Halfway Mark at Coconut Grove's Butter Gallery Saturday, June 28th

miami, a reason to celebrate:

Local photographer alissa christine shows her love for the magic city by capturing its essence everyday for an entire year through her daily photo documentary, i love miami 365. Alissa began her journey January 1st 2008, snapping photos each day then choosing a unique print to represent the spirit of Miami and its people on that particular day. With nearly half a year under her belt, Alissa will debut 167 prints in various forms - including lively 5x7 pieces, awe-inspiring diasec enlargements and recycled cigar box light displays - during the exhibit's opening reception at Butter Gallery.

event details:

Saturday, June 28th

7 p.m.

Butter Gallery

3135 Commodore Plaza

Coconut Grove, FL 33133

305.303.6254

Audioscapes by: DJ Inga Ambrosia

Exhibit will run from June 28th through July 31st

i love miami, too:

For more information, to suggest a topic on what makes you love Miami or to sponsor this project visit www.ilovemiami365.com

To rsvp for the event please email: love@ilovemiami365.com

about alissa christine:

A Brazilian-American visual artist, Alissa Christine channels the true essence of beauty through her work and draws inspiration from the pure and simple joys of life. Mostly recognized for editorial and commercial photography, Alissa's personal art spans mediums with innovative fusions of photography, lighting, movement, painting and display. Alissa has been exhibiting and painting live in South Florida and NYC since 2005 and is the Artist in Residence at OLA/Sanctuary Hotel, South Beach.

*For media inquiries, please contact nikki novo at 305.968.2349
or email nikkinovo@hotmail.com*